Ground Handling & Airport Operations Seminars

Training Program 2023 at Frankfurt Airport

IATA ground handling & airport operations courses with direct access to live operational environment at Frankfurt Airport.

Since 2015 Fraport has entered into a partnership with the International Air Transport Association (IATA), one of the most well-established providers of global aviation training solutions. Within the scope of this training cooperation, Fraport and IATA Training are offering industry-leading seminars to personnel serving airports, ground service providers, cargo handling staff and also to those who are interested in developing a career within the aviation business.

In addition to the proven in-class training conducted by experienced IATA instructors at Fraport premises, these courses help participants to better understand operational processes and related interfaces simply by granting a look behind the scenes of daily ground handling activities, airfreight processing and airport operations at Frankfurt Airport, one of the world's premier aviation hubs. In accordance to their specific area of interest, students will either have access to non-public operational ground handling areas, to various cargo facilities or to dedicated zones, in which duties related to a safe, efficient and smooth airport operation are executed. Common to all of these observation sessions is the presence of a highly-skilled Fraport expert who will depict and explain the established practices on-site.

Developed by the leading provider of global aviation training solutions in close cooperation with one of the most renowned airport operators and ground service companies.

In a global and ever-changing aviation industry, the acquirement of solid and up-to-date expertise are critical for occupational and personal success. Therefore, choose from the programs given below to effectively support and promote internationally accepted industry standards worldwide, while simultaneously taking your career to the next level!
